The importance of textiles

Textiles make an impression and create atmosphere, they influence our perception of furniture and space. When we interact with furniture, upholstery completes the experience.

Curtains transform rooms, they influence light and acoustics. Kvadrat is attuned to the appearance and function of textiles, to create a product that takes part in and influences modern design culture.

It is our ambition to push the boundaries of textiles and of modern and contemporary design whether it be aesthetic, technological or artistic. We work closely with designers, architects and artists to achieve this.

The screenshot displays the Kvadrat website interface. On the left, a 'Login and Order Lightbox' is open, featuring input fields for 'Email', 'Password', and 'Project Name', along with a 'Login & Order' button. A pink oval highlights the 'Login & Order' button. Below the lightbox, a message reads 'Haven't got a username?'. The main content area is divided into three columns. The first column, 'Search by', includes filters for Type, Colour, Pattern, Designer, and Fabric. The second column, 'Search results (24)', shows a list of items with color swatches and labels like 'Field | 432', 'Field | 542', 'Field | 642', 'Field | 662', 'Field | 682', 'Field | 752', 'Field | 762', 'Field | 772', 'Field | 782', and 'Field | 932'. The third column, 'Textiles', lists categories such as 'Collection', 'Innovation', 'Kvadrat art projects', 'Designers', 'Showrooms', 'North Tiles', 'Clouds', and 'Care'. At the bottom right, there is a 'Login' section with contact information for Kvadrat A/S. A breadcrumb trail at the bottom left reads 'Home > Textiles > Collection'.
